EDITORIAL

This newsletter reaches you just before the beginning of the next International Congress of Historical Sciences in Poznań, Poland, to which CISH hopes to welcome as many colleagues as possible for a scientific exchange. With this issue, we would like to whet your appetite for participation in the sections and panels, but also in the accompanying program.

All of these formats serve to provide an overview of the current state of our discipline and to consider together how we can improve it even further. After much more than the usual five years between major CISH congresses, the opportunity for face-to-face meetings that the Corona pandemic has so massively limited is finally arising again. However, we must not lose sight of the fact that restrictions still exist and therefore not all members of our community will be able to attend Poznań in person. Therefore, the hosts have pulled out all the stops to enable and facilitate participation from a distance as well. The organizers will send out very soon a detailed information on the chosen platform and all the technical details of getting access to the various sessions to the panel convenors. It will be therefore the convenors who will send it to the panelists and a potential global audience wherever relevant. Readers will find later in this newsletter the names of the panel convenors so that everyone can contact them just before the congress in order to get the necessary information.

The Russian invasion of Ukraine poses a special challenge this year and the CISH Board has discussed at length what conclusions to draw from this situation for our organization and for the Congress. You will find the board's position in this context later in this newsletter. However, I would also like to draw your attention to the Solidarity Fund that has been established to enable specifically Ukrainian historians to participate in the Congress and in the work of ICHS. Regarding the participation of Russian historians in the Congress, the Board of ICHS was informed about the existing regulations by the Rector of the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań and has commented on this in a letter of reply, which we also share again in this Newsletter. There have also been subsequent statements that consider a broad debate on these positions by our General Assembly is necessary and this will undoubtedly happen in the two meetings of the General Assembly during the Congress in Poznań. Looking forward to meeting many colleagues again and making new acquaintances during the Congress, I remain with warm greetings.

Yours,
Matthias Middell

STATEMENT BY THE BOARD OF ICHS

As the world's largest organization of historians, the Comité International des Sciences Historiques (CISH) – International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS) includes national and topical history organizations from all continents and covering all time periods.

Our purpose is to defend freedom of thought and expression in the field of historical research and teaching and oppose the misuse of history for whatever purpose.

As such, we strongly condemn the abuse of history employed by President Putin in rationalizing Russia's aggression against Ukraine. History is not owned by states or rulers, and we deplore the use of history to foster enemy images and distorted myths.

Freedom of thought and expression requires dialogue and means that our identities and communities are subject to revision and change to foster enemy images and distorted myths. are subject to revision and change.

We stand by our member organizations from the Russian Federation and Ukraine in support of open and free dissemination of historical sources and open and free discussions about interpretations and narratives.

The Board of CISH – ICHS

CISH BOARD TO HER MAGNIFICENCE THE PRESIDENT OF THE ADAM MICKIEWICZ UNIVERSITY IN POZNAŃ

The Board of CISH has been informed about your decision – “in accordance with the decision of the Polish Ministry of Education and Science and following the appeal to Polish academics and intellectual elites in connection with Russia's aggression against Ukraine”—to cease official collaboration with research and higher education institutions of the Russian Federation and the Republic of Belarus. At the same time, you have emphasized that your objection “concerns the actions of the politicians and governments, it is not targeted at people of Russian and Belarusian nationality.”

The Board of CISH expresses full agreement with you that the invasion of Ukraine is a brutal violation of human rights. The Board of CISH has carefully analyzed the current situation and declares that it stands with you in this decision.

As a consequence, official participation of the National Committee of Historians of the Russian Federation and the Russian universities in the 2022 Congress will not be possible. Historians based at universities and institutes of higher education and research in the Russian Federation may therefore participate in our Congress only as unaffiliated scholars.

Furthermore, the Board of CISH would like to inform you of its intention to promote the participation of as many Ukrainian historians as possible in the Congress, with the dedication of 10,000 Swiss Francs from its Solidarity Fund to that end. The Board recommends further that the local organizers arrange a round table to investigate topics from Ukrainian and Russian history in order to facilitate a historical discussion of the current situation for the general public.

The Board of CISH would like to thank in particular the Rector of AMU, the Polish Academy of the Sciences, and the local organizers for the efficient and constructive collaboration with the Board of CISH in these very difficult times.

XXIII INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES POZNAŃ, 21–27 AUGUST 2022

Since 1900, historians from around the world have been organizing their congresses to discuss the most pressing topics, present the results of their research and build international cooperation network. In 1926 they established the International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS), as a non-governmental organization composed of national committees representing the member countries and specialist commissions devoted to specific research issues. The main purpose of the Committee is to promote the historical sciences through international cooperation. The Committee was entrusted with organizing subsequent congresses every five years, in collaboration with historians of the host countries. In the past, the congress took place in Poland only once, in 1933 in Warsaw.

The General Assembly of the ICHS on August 29th, 2015 in Jinan (China) decided that the XXIII International Congress of Historical Sciences will take place in Poznań, Poland on August 23-29, 2020. Unfortunately, due to the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic and the unsatisfactory progress in fighting it in most countries, the organizers were forced to postpone the Congress two times. Ultimately, the ICHS Board decided that XXIII Congress will be held on August 21–27, 2022.

The Polish Local Organizing Committee was formed by the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań (AMU) and the Committee of Historical Sciences of the Polish Academy of Sciences (CHS PAS). It was appointed on November 5th 2015 on the basis of the agreement signed by Professor Bronisław Marcinak, then a Rector of Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, and Professor Krzysztof Mikulski, then President of the CHS PAS. After the change of the authorities of AMU and CHS PAS, new Chairmen of the Local Committee became Professor Andrzej Lesicki (Rector of AMU) and Professor Tomasz Schramm (President of the CHS PAS). The Committee consists of fourteen people. Besides the Chairmen mentioned above, they are representatives of the Faculty of History of AMU, CHS PAS, Polish Historical Society and Polish History Museum in Warsaw, as well as the representatives of regional and municipal authorities – Marek Woźniak, the Marshal of the Wielkopolska Region and Mariusz Wiśniewski, Vice-Mayor of the City of Poznań. The organization of the Congress was entrusted to the Executive Department, whose Chairman is Professor Krzysztof A. Makowski, and the General Secretary Professor Maciej Michalski. The members of the Executive Department represent the Faculty of History of AMU, the University's administration, the local authorities, as well as Poznań Supercomputing and Networking Center. The Congress Bureau coordinates all activities of the Organizing Committee and the Executive Department. The logistical preparations for the Congress were entrusted to the Poznań International Fair.

The program of the XXIII Congress, in comparison to the previous ones, has been slightly modified. Several dozen different panels will be held during the Congress in Poznań.

Among them, the most important will be the so-called Major Themes. In addition, a dozen so-called Joint Sessions, about 20 Round Tables, as well as several dozen Specialized Themes devoted to various issues from antiquity to the present day. In addition, there will be 3 Evening Sessions. One and a half days will be devoted to thematic panels organized by specialized committees affiliated with the ICHS.

A poster session is planned for post-graduate and PhD students. The best works will be honored with the ICHS-Shandong University Young Historian Award established at the XXII International Congress in Jinan in 2015. The award was intended to encourage young scholars to participate in the Congress, where they could present their ongoing research achievements. The Shandong University and ICHS have decided to continue the Award during the XXIII International Congress of Historical Sciences in Poznań in 2022. The $ US 10,000 award will be divided among five recipients.

During the Congress in Poznań, the so-called Research Forum, will be held for the first time. It is a new initiative of the Board of ICHS. The main purpose of the Research Forum is to allow research institutions to present their ongoing or planned projects to an audience of established scholars and beginner researchers. It should provide an opportunity for cooperation between institutions as well as the addition of high qualified researchers as collaborators.

This initiative fully coincides with the ICHS mission, as one of its objectives is to stimulate dialogue between young scholars and various research institutions. During the Congress in Poznań, the International CISH History Prize will be awarded for the third time. It honors a historian who has distinguished herself/himself in the field of history by her/his research, publications or teaching, and has significantly contributed to the development of historical knowledge. Also, traditionally, the Congress will be accompanied by the International Exhibition of Historical Books. All Congress venues are located in the city center. The Congress Center, including the registration and information desks, will be located in the Zamek Culture Centre. The Opening Ceremony will be held in the biggest auditorium in Poznań, i.e. in the Earth Hall, located in the area of the Poznań International Fair. Other Congress sessions will take place mainly in the stately halls of the University. A clear system of communication between particular venues will be organized, and the walking distance between buildings will not exceed 15 minutes. All buildings are accessible for disabled people. In all Congress venues, a network called eduroam will be available.

The Congress welcomes the participation of academic staff of universities and other scientific institutions, students (B.A., M.A., Ph.D.), teachers and other persons professionally connected with the subject of the Congress.

ABOUT THE RESEARCH FORUM

Mission statement

Research Forum is a new initiative of the Board of the International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS) and during the XXIII International Congress of Historical Sciences in Poznań is to be held for the first time.

The main purpose of the Research Forum is to allow research institutions to present their ongoing or planned projects to an audience of established scholars and early career researchers. It should provide an opportunity to create new cooperation between institutions, as well as recruit highly qualified researchers as collaborators.

List of institutions participating in the Research Forum ICHS 2022:

- Max Planck Institute for the Science of Human History (MPI SHH) – Jena, in collaboration with MPI History of Science – Berlin, MPI History of Art – Florence (Italy) and MPI European Legal History – Frankfurt
- Leibniz-ScienceCampus Eastern Europe – Global Area at Leipzig (EEGA)/Research Centre Global Dynamics at Leipzig University / Network of Global and World History Organizations (NOGWHISTO)
- Foundation for Polish Science
- Instytut Pileckiego

- University Library of Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań
- Faculty of History of University of Warsaw
- European Network Remembrance and Solidarity
- International Students of History Association

The institutions will:

- present and circulate their materials on special stands throughout the duration of the Congress;
- present their programs during separate sessions chaired by ICHS Board members on Thursday (August 25) and Friday (August 26) – in person or virtually.

Location

The Research Forum will be located next to the Congress Center in the Zamek Culture Center in the Imperial Castle.
